MARSgram

Send a morale and welfare message to family and friends with a MARSgram message. This is a free public service intended to boost the morale of soldiers, airmen, sailors, and other authorized users worldwide. To send a message, fill in the form below. Be specific and complete with all information. Any missing information may delay delivery of your message or cause your message to be undeliverable.

-You can not send: initial notices of death, profanity, military troop movement information, or other sensitive information.
-You must write your message in English.
-Only non-commercial messages may be sent.
-Don't forget to include the telephone number of the person you're addressing your message to. Messages without a telephone number will still, however, be accepted into the network but failure to include the telephone number may delay delivery of your message or, in some cases, cause it to be undeliverable.

After you've completed this form, give it to the MARS station serving your area. The MARS station serving your area is:
